

Life, Conquerable

If the world is merely a mountain range, high, impossible

And we are but its many colors,
Then the things that make us separate

race

religion

gender

sexuality

Shall also fit us together like a puzzle piece.

